

United States Court of Appeals for the Sixth Circuit

Procedures for the Selection of Federal Public Defender Nominees

Pursuant to 18 U.S.C. Section 3006A(g)(2)(A) and
Regulations of the Judicial Conference of the United States

Pursuant to 18 U.S.C. Section 3006A(a) each United States district court, with the approval of the judicial council of the circuit, shall place in operation throughout the district a plan for furnishing representation for any person financially unable to obtain adequate representation in accordance with this section. For a district, or part of a district, in which at least 200 persons annually require the appointment of counsel, a federal public defender organization may be established. These procedures describe the steps which will be followed by the United States Court of Appeals for the Sixth Circuit in selecting nominees for appointment as federal public defenders to administer federal public defender organizations within the Sixth Circuit and for the reappointment of incumbent federal public defenders.

1. QUALIFICATIONS. The federal public defender shall be appointed by the United States Court of Appeals for the Sixth Circuit for a term of four years unless sooner removed. To be eligible for consideration by the Court for appointment as federal public defender, an applicant must possess all of the following qualifications:

(a) An applicant must be a member in good standing of the highest court of at least one state or of the District of Columbia, and a member in good standing of every other bar of which the applicant is a member.

(b) An applicant must have a minimum of five years criminal practice experience, preferably with significant federal criminal trial experience, which demonstrates an ability to provide zealous representation of consistently high quality to criminal defendants.

(c) An applicant must have the ability to effectively administer the office;

(d) An applicant must possess a reputation for integrity;

(e) An applicant must have a commitment to the representation of those unable to afford counsel.

(f) An applicant may not be related to a judge of the Court of Appeals, or to a judge of the district court in the district in which the vacancy exists by blood or marriage within the degree of first cousin.

2. ADDITIONAL QUALIFICATIONS. The Court may establish additional qualification standards appropriate for a particular position, taking into account the specific responsibilities anticipated for that position.

3. PUBLIC NOTICE. With respect to each vacancy, a public notice shall be given which shall identify the vacant position, and shall describe the nature of the position and the procedures for submission of applications. An affirmative effort shall be made to insure that women, blacks, Hispanics, and other minority individuals are informed of the vacancy and are invited to apply.

(a) Publication. Unless otherwise ordered by the Court because of exigent circumstances, the notice of the vacancy shall be nationally distributed to other federal public defender offices and to organizations such as the National Center for State Courts; the American, Federal and National Bar Associations; and the National Association of Criminal Defense Attorneys with nationwide mailing capabilities. The notice should also be published to the extent feasible, in state bar journals, newsletters, and local legal periodicals, if available. The public notice shall set a firm deadline for applications.

(b) Posting. The public notice of a vacancy also shall be posted in the office of the clerk of the United States Court of Appeals for the Sixth Circuit and in the offices of the clerk of the district court for the district in which the vacancy exists.

4. FORM OF APPLICATION. Applications for appointment as federal public defender shall be submitted on the form prescribed by the Court. A copy of the prescribed form is attached to these procedures as Appendix A.

(a) Availability of application forms. Application forms may be obtained from the office of the circuit executive, the office of the clerk of the United States Court of Appeals for the Sixth Circuit, or from the offices of the clerk of the district court clerk in which the vacancy exists.

(b) Submission of applications. Applications for appointment as federal public defender shall be submitted to:

Office of the Circuit Executive
503 Potter Stewart United States Courthouse
100 East Fifth Street

(c) Number of copies. Each applicant shall submit 10 copies of the application form.

5. MERITSELECTIONPANEL. For the purpose of assisting the Court in reviewing and evaluating the applications for appointment as federal public defender, the Court shall appoint, as needed, merit selection panels for districts in which vacancies exist.

(a) Membership. A merit selection panel shall consist of three to seven members, including the chairperson. The members of the panel shall be appointed by the chief judge of the circuit in consultation with the circuit and district judges of the district concerned. The membership of a panel shall consist of persons knowledgeable in federal criminal defense issues, but shall not include probation, pretrial services, enforcement or prosecutorial personnel. Each member of the panel shall be a resident of the circuit.

(b) Duties. A panel shall examine all applications for the purpose of identifying qualified applicants. A panel shall make an effort to identify and give due consideration to all qualified applicants, without regard to race, color, sex, religion or national origin. A panel shall grant a personal interview to each applicant whose name is submitted to the Court. A panel, or members thereof, may, subject to the confidentiality provisions of paragraph 8 of these procedures, solicit information regarding an applicant from any persons who are familiar with the applicant's qualifications. A panel shall solicit confidential comments from the district court or courts to be served regarding the qualifications of each applicant whose name is submitted to the Court and shall include in its report the recommendations of the district court along with the committee's response to the district court's comments and recommendations, where appropriate. All panel meetings shall be closed to preserve confidentiality.

(c) Appointment and activation of the panel. A panel shall be appointed by the Chief Judge of the Circuit upon the recommendation and approval of the Sixth Circuit Judicial Council and the Administrative Office of the creation of a federal public defender organization or when a vacancy occurs in the office of federal public defender. For purposes of these procedures, the Chief Judge of the Circuit may deem a federal public defender position to be vacant and may appoint a panel upon the death of a federal public defender, upon receipt of written notification from a federal public defender of his or her intention to resign or retire from active service upon a date certain in the future, or in the event the court of appeals declines to reappoint an incumbent federal public defender.

(d) Panel report. Within 90 days after the application deadline, a panel shall submit its report to the Court of Appeals. Such report shall specify three to five persons ranked in order of preference by the panel. Pursuant to the provision of the Criminal Justice Act requiring the courts of appeals to consider the recommendation of the district court to be served, the recommendation of the district court shall be included in the committee's report to the Court of Appeals, along with the committee's response to the district court's comments and recommendations, where appropriate. The report of the panel also shall include a description of the panel's activities and all written materials received by it or prepared by the panel concerning the recommended nominees.

6. COURT EVALUATION AND NOMINATION. The Court, or committee thereof, shall review the report and recommendation of the panel. The Court shall select the final nominee from the list provided by the panel. However, the Court may, by majority vote, reject the first list submitted by the panel and direct that the panel submit a second list from which the Court shall then select its nominee. The Court, or a committee thereof, may personally interview applicants and may solicit information regarding an applicant from persons familiar with the applicant's qualifications. Following selection of a final nominee, the name of the attorney selected shall be submitted to the Administrative Office of the United States Courts which shall initiate F.B.I. and I.R.S. investigations. The Chief Judge of the Circuit shall review the F.B.I. and I.R.S. reports and, finding same satisfactory, complete the order of appointment.

7. REAPPOINTMENT OF FEDERAL PUBLIC DEFENDER. An evaluation committee of three to seven members shall be appointed by the Chief Judge of the Circuit in consultation with the circuit and district judges of the district in which the federal public defender serves to assess the quality of representation, level of commitment and service to clients, and administrative efficiency of the federal public defender office prior to deciding whether to recommend to the Court of Appeals the reappointment of an incumbent federal public defender.

(a) Duties. The committee shall solicit the views of those in a position to evaluate the performance of the federal public defender as well as the quality of the services provided by the federal public defender organization by conducting a survey of district court personnel, including district and magistrate judges, probation officers, law enforcement officers and prosecutors, as well as attorneys who regularly practice criminal law in federal court. To accomplish this goal, the committee may use a questionnaire seeking input from court personnel and criminal defense attorneys; may post a notice in the various court offices where attorneys and other court personnel would see it seeking written comments to be forwarded to the committee; may write individual letters to court personnel and attorneys seeking written comments; or may do a telephone survey of court personnel and attorneys.

The federal public defender shall be interviewed and given an opportunity to respond to comments, including adverse comments which would not influence the decision to reappoint, so that the Defender may benefit from constructive criticism. The committee shall not disclose the identity of the person, but shall provide the defender with a general description of the source and nature of the comments.

(b) Evaluation Committee Report. The committee's report and assessment of the reappointment of an incumbent federal public defender shall be filed with the court of appeals within 90 days of the date of appointment of the committee and shall include its recommendation on reappointment of the federal public defender as well as any recommendations from the district court to be served. Upon receipt of the committee's report, the court, or a committee thereof, may personally interview the defender and solicit additional information regarding the defender prior to deciding whether the reappointment of the incumbent defender is warranted. Should the Court of Appeals decide not to reappoint an incumbent federal public defender, the Chief Judge of the Circuit shall declare a vacancy in the position effective upon the date of expiration of the incumbent defender's term, and the procedures outlined above for the appointment of a new federal public defender shall be instituted.

8. CONFIDENTIALITY. All information received by the Court or a Merit Selection Panel in the performance of its responsibility under these Regulations, including the application forms, the names of applicants and the identities of persons recommended by the Merit Selection Panel to the Court, shall be kept in strict confidence, except as may be necessary to permit the Court or Merit Screening Panel to obtain necessary information about an applicant's qualifications for appointment. The panel may contact personal references listed in the application form without securing a waiver of confidentiality. No other disclosure of an applicant's name or solicitation of information about an applicant will occur unless the applicant has executed a waiver of confidentiality. All Court and panel meetings concerning the review of applicants or potential nominees shall be closed to preserve confidentiality.

In executing its duties and responsibilities to the court on the reappointment of an incumbent federal public defender all individual responses shall be held in strict confidence. The incumbent defender shall be given an opportunity to respond to the results of the survey conducted, including any adverse comments received by the committee. The committee may provide the defender with a general description of the source and nature of the comments.
